c) Selection Process:

The selection process for admission to the Doctoral Program consists of three phases:

1. First Phase: Evaluation of CV, qualifications and publications

This phase will take into account all qualifications, publications (if any) and further relevant elements indicated in a candidate's CV.

Publications will be evaluated taking into account the academic value of the writings, their relevance to the topics under study in the Doctoral Program and the standing of the journals and publishing houses through which the candidates have published.

Please note that it is possible to apply for the Doctoral Program even in the absence of publications.

Candidates who score at least 24 points in the first phase will be admitted to the second phase, i.e. the evaluation of the Research Proposal. Reference should be made to section d) of this sheet for more details on the evaluation criteria.

2. Second Phase: Evaluation of the Research Proposal.

This phase evaluates the Research Proposal submitted by the candidates.

In this regard, it is essential to bear in mind, in terms of validity, that the Research Proposal may only concern any subject – falling within one or more of the academic disciplines listed in section a) of this sheet – relating to the topic of “Law and Science: methodological profiles, legal relations and tools, governance and public policies”.

The Research Proposal will be evaluated on the basis of the following parameters:

- Relevance: the proposal addresses an issue that is highly topical and/or important;
- Novelty: the proposal addresses a topic that has not yet been thoroughly analyzed in doctrinal literature and/or proposes to deal with the topic from an innovative perspective;
- Comparative/international dimension: the proposal intends to examine the legal systems of other countries and/or to examine the chosen topic also from the perspective of the international and/or EU legal system;
- Interdisciplinarity: the proposal exhibits an interdisciplinary profile regarding one or more areas under study in the Doctoral Program;

- Structure: the proposal is well structured and logically reasoned while also being well written and laid out from a formal standpoint.

Candidates who score at least 12 points in the second phase will be admitted to the third phase, i.e. Oral Exam and English language test.

3. Third Phase: Oral Exam and English language test

The Oral Exam will focus on the Research Proposal submitted and will concern topics and subjects pertinent thereto (even if not directly covered by the Research Proposal itself but which relate to the areas under study in the Doctoral Program). It is designed to assess not only the candidate's depth of knowledge regarding the proposal submitted but also the candidate's ability to engage in legal reasoning and discuss concepts relating to various branches of the legal system. Testing of the English language will consist of reading a text in English and translating it into Italian.

Candidates who are applying for a scholarship position reserved for international candidates must exhibit an adequate knowledge of Italian during the Oral Exam.

The Oral Exam will be held online on the Webex platform. Candidates must possess a computer (with a webcam and microphone) and internet access and follow the instructions relating to the use of the Webex application which they will receive by email at the address that has been submitted during the candidacy phase.

The Oral Exam will be deemed to have been passed by candidates who obtain at least 24 points; 10 of the 40 points will be reserved for the evaluation of the candidate's knowledge of the English language.

The scoring system utilized by the Commission is as follows (minimum score for eligibility 60):

Competition Phase	Subject matter of evaluation	Maximum Score	Minimum score to pass to next phase
